Rescue Training Institute

CPR, First Aid, AED, and Bloodborne Pathogens

An entry-level training on a combined adult CPR, first aid, AED, and bloodborne pathogens (BBP) training program designed specifically for the occupational first aid provider. This course will help train employees on how to respond and care for medical emergencies at work. If you have been challenged with responding to a medical emergency, you know the value of hands-on training that prepares you for the unexpected. You will be trained by EMTs and paramedics who use these skills daily in the course of their work.

Who should attend?

This training is not designed for public safety such as police, fire and EMS.

This training is designed for employees, including public works, recreation, and other city employees, who may need to respond and care for medical emergencies at work.
